Advising: November 23 – December 11 You must be cleared by your advisor before you can register. Make an appointment! But NOT for during the break! Keep reading!

A note from the Amazing ADVA on How Advising “Week” will Work this Semester:

It’s structured a bit differently this time around, so here’s your heads-up. As always, everybody needs to be cleared before they can register, but seniors have only a few days for their appointments before registration opens, and so will have priority booking from their advisors. We strongly encourage you NOT to try to schedule advising sessions during Thanksgiving Break. It should not be necessary and everyone needs and deserves a break, so we hope you will stick to the dates below.

Senior advisees will have priority for advising appointments on November 23, 24, 30 to be cleared before registration on December 1-2.

Junior advisees will have priority for advising appointments on November 30, December 1, 2 to be cleared before registration on December 3-4.

Sophomore advisees will have priority for advising appointments on December 3, 4, 7 to be cleared before registration on December 8-9.

First year advisees will have priority for advising appointments on December 8, 9, 10 to be cleared before registration on December 10-11.

Thank you for making your advising appointment in line with these suggestions so that everyone can get cleared when they need to. The calendar adjustments and extra accommodations that have had to be made this semester have complicated our usual systems. We appreciate your understanding and flexibility.
